

Pigtails of Love ~ Jayne's Gift of Hope

in support of Pediatric Cancer Research at SickKids

Jayne has what it takes to "make the cut"
in support of neuroblastoma research.

The $750 pledge challenge!

Jayne Morton of Burlington is challenging her friends, family, and community to come together and raise a minimum of $750 in pledges for her PigTails of Love campaign in support of Sam's Day 2007.

With $750 in pledges raised, Jayne will fulfill her Pigtails of Love promise...to brave having more than 12 inches of her signature pigtails hair shorn-off LIVE at Sam's Day 2007 on Sat. June 9th at Brant Hills Community Center, Burlington.

BE THERE!

Sam's Day is an annual family fun day established by the Lack family of Burlington to commemorate their son's birthday, a poignant milestone in Sam's on-going journey to wellness after battling neuroblastoma. The event aims to raise awareness of the rare but deadly form of childhood cancer, and to raise funds for The James Fund, which supports researchers involved in leading edge investigation into new therapies for the treatment of neuroblastoma.

Every dollar raised for The James Fund goes directly to research.

Join in the fun, salute Jayne's bravery,
and help make a life saving difference to kids like Sam!

Jayne's hair will be donated to the hair donation program of the Canadian Cancer Society.
