A Celebration of Sam Lack's
6th Birthday & 4 Years Cancer Free!

Sam's Day is an annual Family Fun Event that aims to raise awareness of neuroblastoma, a rare but deadly kid's cancer, and to raise money for The James Fund for Neuroblastoma Research at SickKids. Every dollar raised goes directly to research.

The James Fund was started by a family like ours, whose little boy was dying from neuroblastoma. They hoped that with research, they could find a treatment to save him. Although James Birrell died, his family still works hard to help other kids. Since 2001, The James Fund has become a global research leader.

Neuroblastoma is not a common type of kid's cancer, but most kids who have it die. Research can make better medicine that will save more kids. This happened with leukemia - 80% of kids with leukemia used to die, and now 80% live! Our wish is for the same thing to happen with neuroblastoma. Help us kick cancer's butt – Sam's got a lot of living to do!

The loss of one child's innocence to cancer is dreadful.

The loss of one child's live to cancer is too many.
